"Big Show"

TRUCE DECLARED

Every Freshman Urged To Attend Smoker

For the last few days the Union has been the scene of constant bustle and commotion as the preparations for the Union Smoker and "Pep Rally" have gone forward. Everything has gone off without a hitch and McGill is assured of one of the best of evening entertainments that have taken place at the college since the pre-war period. "Rushing" has been declared a dead issue for the night, and Freshmen are certain of protection and enjoyment when they turn out to the "Pep Rally."

Proceedings will commence at seven-forty-five, when the crowd will assemble on the Campus, form up under the cheer-leaders' parade to the tunes of the Royal Highlanders' Band, down University Street to St. Catherine street, to Drummond, up which street they will proceed to Sherbrooke and the Union. The programme at this last mentioned place will start at eight-forty-five, both upper floors being utilized for the purpose. Music will be provided by the Royal Highlanders' Band, Chub Lebaron's orchestra, the mandolin Club, and another students' organization. Following this, arrangements have been completed by the committee in charge to have an act appear from one of the local theatres. Jimmy Rice, renowned about town for his versatile acting of vaudeville offerings, has promised to be present during the evening. In addition to this, two solos will be rendered by college men and other students will be staged by the students.

The Principal, Sir Arthur Currie, will be on the platform and, along with Dr. Leacock, has consented to address those in attendance. Dean Laing of the faculty of Arts will likewise have a few words to say of pertinent interest. Coach Shaughnessy has some dope on the rugby situation, which he is going to hand out. Track prospects will be discussed by Van Wagner in his capacity as coach to the McGill runners, jumpers and weight putters. The President of the Students' Society, R. L. Hamilton, and the President of the Athletic Association, Don Foss, will

TOURNAMENT IN TENNIS AT R.V.C.

The Draw Will Be Posted
Wednesday Noon

Women students in all faculties at McGill are invited to enter the R.V.C. individual tennis tournament, which starts Wednesday afternoon. In order that partial students and those in Law, Medicine, or higher degree courses, may have time to sign up the lists will be kept open until Wednesday noon, and the draw will be posted at 1.30. Play will start Wednesday afternoon and contestants are urged to play as many games off then as possible.

Owing to the brevity of the tennis season, the usual best out of fifteen games plan will be followed, until the semi-final round, when the regular best two out of three sets will be used.

This year, the contestants will not be drawn to play only members of their respective years, but will meet girls in different faculties, and other years, besides their own in the first round. Four girls, instead of two, from each year will be chosen to contest the inter-class championship. There will be a doubles team and two single players from each year. The inter-class tournament will follow the individual.

All girls interested in tennis should sign up at once, as some good play is anticipated. For those who lose their first round, a Consolation Tournament will be arranged to run concurrently with the individual tournament. Miss Cartwright has very kindly offered a small trophy for the consolation event.

WINDOW TO BE UNVEILED IN MED. BLDG.

Three Soldier Surgeons Honoured by Faculty

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

Beautiful Memorial in Stained Glass to Heroic Dead

The new Medical Building is to be the scene of a solemn and impressive ceremony on Thursday afternoon at 12.30 o'clock when Sir Arthur Currie will officiate at the unveiling of a stained glass window in commemoration of three members of the faculty of medicine who gave their lives for their country.—Lieut. Col. John McCrae, R. P. Campbell and H. B. Yates

The present teaching staff of the Medical faculty has subscribed for the memorial which has been designed by Prof. P. E. Nobbs of the faculty of Architecture. The window is placed in a commanding position in the main hall of their first floor over the main entrance to the building. The window itself is beautiful in conception and construction. It is in three sections, each of which is dedicated to the memory of one of the dead officers.

The central section shows rows of white crosses standing in a field of poppies, and is sacred to the memory of Col. McCrae, the author of "In Flanders Fields." It is inscribed: "To John Mac Crae, B.A., M.D., Tor., M.R.C.P., and Lt.-Col. C.A.M.C., Pathologist, Poet, Physician, and Soldier. A man among men. In 1899 he came to this university, a Governors' Fellow in Pathology and later in Medicine. He served with the Artillery in the South African War as M.O. with the 1st Bde. C.F.A., as Chief Physician to No. 3 C.G.H., McGill, and as Consultant in Medicine to 1st Army. Born at Guelph, Ont., 1872. Died on service at Boulogne, France, 1918."

The right hand section of the window is dedicated to Col. Yates and shows the town of Boulogne, the plague bearing a microscope.

The inscription to Col. Yates is: "To Henry Bridges Yates, B.A., Contab. M. D. McGill and Lt.-Col. C.A.M.C.: an officer of unfailing tact and good humor, and an able organizer. In 1899 he came here as demonstrator in Pathology, becoming lecturer in Bacteriology in 1905. Regimental surgeon to the Victoria Rifles from 1900 until the Great War broke out, when he served as A.D.M.S. in M. D. No. 4, and then as adjutant to No. 3 C.G.H. McGill, remaining with that unit until the time of his death. Born in Montreal in 1865. Died in 1916 on overseas service."

The window at the left is set apart to the memory of Col. Campbell, and is inscribed as follows:

"To Roland Playfair Campbell, B.A., M.D., McGill, Lt.-Col. C. R. M. C. Surgeon, Investigator, Soldier, a servant of (Continued on page 3)

HARRIERS OUT

F. Hamilton, Champion Pole Vault, is Practising With Varsity Team

(Special to McGill Daily)

Toronto, October 3rd.—The appearance of one hundred new track aspirants at Varsity this fall gives the Queen City athletes increased confidence in their fourth attempt to take the intercollegiate honors from McGill when they meet in Montreal on October twentieth with Queen's, McGill and the R.M.C. Among the new material are sprinters, several jumpers who are progressing rapidly and making the older men take notice if they wish to accompany the Toronto team in two weeks.

In the loss of Carruthers, who graduated last spring, a sad vacancy was made which is difficult to fill, especially in the hurdles event where Carruthers used to show up to advantage. Hamilton, the runner of the Canadian pole vault championship is in fine condition, and the prophets at Toronto are foretelling a new intercollegiate record this month. Turner, who won the high jump last year is better than ever and giving pretty exhibitions of his prowess in practices.

Toronto is holding an inter-faculty meet on the 12th of the month for which a large entry list has been turned in. This event owing to the many affiliated colleges in Toronto is a "big event," and the results of it will be a good basis for betting.

The harrier spirit has infected a larger proportion of the student body. After going through some grilling trials, there is a large proportion still in line for the "Harrier Six" to come to Montreal on November fourth.

There is no lack of courage in the McGill ranks, following the receipt of the Toronto report, in fact with the showing made by Cecil Hay and Dave Johnson in the sprints; Roland Kennedy in the jump and shot-puts; Gabor and Craik in the pole vault; Hamilton, Legg and Wiggins in the distance events; and the new material visiting the Stadium daily, there is a good chance of McGill holding the silverware for a fifth consecutive season.

PRIZES OFFERED FOR BEST PARODY

Football Ticks To Be Given to Composers of Best Yell and Parody—Routers' Activities

Rodge McLagen, President of the Football Club, has offered on behalf of the club a prize of two tickets to the Queen's game, for the best new yell and also two tickets for the best parody sent into the Router's Club. This fact will no doubt encourage the many parody and yell writers on the campus to put forth their best efforts, not only to obtain free seats to the game but also to help bring the Router's Club up to date. All contributions must be handed in to Bert Tremaine or one of the cheer leaders before Monday, October 9th, at five o'clock.

TONIGHT'S SMOKER

Tonight, at eight o'clock, the first smoker of the year is being staged, and all indications point to a huge success. That tonight's event is worthy of the support of every student at McGill is a self-evident fact, and it is a fact that we think should be absolutely unnecessary emphasize. However, though we hope it may not be so, there is a possibility that some do not fully realize the value of this event, nor do they see clearly the many benefits that will undoubtedly result if this smoker receives the whole-hearted support of the undergraduate body.

Of course, many will derive a certain amount of amusement during the evening's entertainment, but this, in itself, will be nothing more than a passing incident in the every-day life of each individual. Those, however, who participate in this "Pep. Rally" in the right spirit, will reap benefits that may prove to be everlasting, for here is the best of fine opportunities to meet new people, get new ideas, and develop new friendships. Get away from your favorite clique; do not mingle with the old crowd for the whole of the evening, but let that "get-together" feeling be the predominant note of the smoker, and a success—in the true sense of the word—will without question result. Aid-timers should do their best to make the Freshmen feel that they are really welcome, and students in various faculties will be able to inter-change ideas and reach, in some instances at least, the happy grounds of common understanding.

The success of a university, both from a scholastic and athletic viewpoints, depends to a great extent upon the morale of the undergraduate body, and good morale cannot possibly exist if each student does not understand the joys, the sorrows, the problems and the trials of his fellow student.

Tonight's smoker offers to each one of use an opportunity that we should not neglect.—Let us make the most of it.

CRIBBING

This article is an attempt to bring to the attention of students the growth and consequent evils of the practice of "cribbing." It has been written by students of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, and, therefore, contains the thoughts and feelings of students in an engineering school similar to this University. The ideas herein are backed by the Student Council and by campus organizations of every sort in the institution that issued the following statements. It is only by sober thinking and right thinking on the part of the individual student that this evil can be corrected.

The question may be asked "Why all this fuss about cribbing? There isn't enough going on to justify this commotion." That question and the opinion expressed is a very natural one. The growth of this practice has been so insidious that the students have not realized the proportions that it has assumed. Student sentiment has been brought around not only to tolerate but to be in sympathy with it. While the percentage of students guilty of the practice is relatively small, yet that small number will have a marked influence on the entire student body if the practice is not crushed. It is time the students took a definite stand against this evil.

If allowed to continue it will finally destroy that claim to high scholarship which we like to associate with the name "Carnegie." It will mean that a degree from the institution will be heavily discounted. If a student goes through college, passing his studies by cheating, he will know little or no more than when he started, and when he comes to face the world, his degree will avail him little if he cannot show the qualities for which his degree is supposed to stand.

Try to Develop Character.

We have spoken of the effect that this practice will have on the reputation of the institution. What about the effect on the student himself? Professor Rowe, president of the American Society of Industrial Engineers, in addressing a group of Tech students recently, said: "The first and most important function of any institution of learning is to develop character of the students, so as to make these students absolutely reliable and trustworthy; the second function is to give these students a thorough training in the courses selected."

A man's character is best exemplified in his personal honesty; by which he is not only known to others, but also in his dealings with himself. The weakening of this quality of personal honesty by this practice while in college will leave a man less able to resist the temptations that beset a man in business life. "Cribbing" is a poor training for good citizenship. It destroys those qualities of initiative and self-reliance that are so essential to any permanent success. A man who cribbs will assert that he would not steal any material thing, but his resistance to the temptation to do so is undoubtedly weakened by his indulging in "cribbing."

Who is to Blame?

Where can the blame be placed for this condition? While the greatest blame is to be placed on those who do the actual cheating, yet some can be placed on the other students who do not take the offence as seriously as it should be taken, and also upon the faculty, whose attitude is wrong in many cases. Some will say that the attitude of the instructors in the examination rooms acts as a challenge to students to cheat whenever it is possible. Other instructors are entirely too lax, not calling the students for infractions of the rules. Nevertheless, the existence of a temptation is not sufficient excuse for such an act.

What is the remedy for this condition? How can this practice be reduced or eliminated entirely? And the answer is, that any correction must come from the students themselves. Student honor is a matter of campus opinion. Student sentiment must feel and admit the undesirability of "cribbing," and then array itself against the few individuals who dissent and make "cribbing" impossible for them. To inspire the growth of a healthy sentiment against "cribbing" is our purpose. Nothing can be forced. But by a closed agreement among the students and a better understanding between them and their instructors, this evil can be gotten rid of. Eliminate "cribbing," and not only our Alma Mater and ourselves will be benefited, but the outside world will be given far better material out of which to mould our American citizenship.—Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Ingersoll once came across an old negro scrub-woman reading her Bible. "Mary, do you believe all you read there?" inquired he. "Do you believe God made man out of dust?" "Course I does," stoutly declared Mary.

"But suppose it happened to rain and there was nothing but mud?" quizzed the Colonel.

"Why sure," retorted the old mammy, "de good Lawd den knowed well 'nough 'twas jes de right time to make dem lawyers an' infidels."

Keep Up the Good Work

FINANCIAL SIDE OF AN EDUCATION

A Few Suggestions From A Student

Many Freshmen entering McGill for the first time are wondering which is the best way to make their allowance in the bank, or the one coming from "Dad", go the farthest, and how the older students map out the financial side of their college career. In this they are not alone. Thousands at Canadian colleges are planning the best way to take in all the college activities, and still have enough to pay for necessities.

The following story, copied from the "Soliglate World" may prove of interest to college men and women attending universities in Canada, if not as illustrating a possible expedient, certainly as exemplifying the difference between the colleges in the United States and those in Canada. It is doubtful if some of the student enterprises treated below would be a success here. Canadian conservatism would be an obstacle at any rate.

The article is as follows:—
At the college I attend we do not judge students by the size of their bank rolls. All are equal as far as money is concerned. In fact, the boy who is working part of his way by doing jobs that would be considered degrading in some other colleges gets credit for his pluck.

What a man spends while in college depends a great deal upon what his associates spend. If expensive weekend parties are indulged in, the fellow who remains out is not popular; but I am fortunate in attending a college where money is not thrown away foolishly. It is almost an impossibility to tell accurately just what a group of students spend during a college year. Many have no idea how much they spend; others invest a great deal in clothing. However, I have passed around a questionnaire of college expenses to over a hundred men at random among the fraternity and non-fraternity men in an attempt to get an idea of what the average student invests in a college education. Fifty-six questionnaires were filled out and returned, thirty-two from the fraternity men and twenty-four from the dormitory men. Below are listed the totals submitted for expenses during the college year of 1920 and 1921:

| Fraternity Men | Dormitory Men |
|----------------|---------------|
| $889 | $382 |
| 898 | 407 |
| 1,012 | 413 |
| 721 | 500 |
| 618 | 420 |
| 650 | 493 |
| 705 | 518 |
| 610 | 453 |
| 720 | 506 |
| 700 | 512 |
| 860 | 591 |
| 770 | 555 |
| 620 | 546 |
| 910 | 525 |
| 750 | 433 |
| 740 | 561 |
| 902 | 603 |
| 825 | 624 |
| 890 | 495 |
| 650 | 512 |
| 760 | 469 |
| 890 | 519 |
| 640 | 500 |
| 826 | 396 |
| 985 | --- |
| 725 | --- |
| 1,250 | --- |
| 700 | --- |
| 1,600 | --- |
| 707 | --- |
| 875 | --- |
| 790 | --- |
| --- | --- |
| $849. Average | $498 |

It will be noticed that there is a difference of $351 in the averages of the fraternity and the dormitory men. This may be explained in a number of ways. It probably actually costs the fraternity man about a hundred and fifty dollars more annually to live in a fraternity house. This extra cost is due to such items as initiation, dues, increased board and room, and house-particles. A difference of two hundred dollars is still left to be accounted for. When men come to college they enter the dormitory, but those that are active in athletics and mingle in the college activities are usually bid to fraternities. These bids are rarely refused, unless the person bid cannot afford the extra expense, or decides to wait a little longer for a bid from another fraternity which he likes better. After joining a fraternity he is encouraged to enter into as many college activities as he can without sacrificing too much time from his studies. In his outside activities he meets many new friends and is placed in a different social environment, which is less secluded, but more expensive. Forty-four per cent of the students here are members of Greek-letter societies.

The fact that there are only three in the above list who spent more than one thousand dollars shows that extravagance is the exception. On the other hand, the lowest man in the list spent but three hundred and eighty-two dollars. He paid $47 to the college for board, room, tuition and books. The remaining $35 was thrown away as follows: $25 for clothing, $2 fr laundry, $1 for carfare, $1 for amusements, $1 for all food luxuries (ice cream, candy, etc.) and $7 for miscellaneous. Such a person could not have enjoyed much of his college year, and has, no doubt, lost a good part of his college education, which, by the way, is not all contained in books. I only cite this extreme case to show that it is possible; but I should never advise anybody to attempt going to college on that amount. It is better to work a year, and then by spending a little more money on the social side of college, get so much more of college life through his contact with others.

Nearly everyone at the college earns part of his expenses during the summer vacation. A third earn part of their way while attending the college, but there are very few that can pay all of their expenses by working as they go along. In novels it is very common to read of a boy that takes his way while attending, but it takes an exceptional person. It requires courage, ability and personality to do what one of my friends did this year. He arrived on the campus with twelve dollars in his pocket and no parents to fall back upon. He went before the deans of the college and persuaded them to trust him for his tuition for four months (a request seldom granted). He obtained a position in a restaurant which gave him his board and room. He started a large dancing class made up mostly of students. Sundays he was employed as a soloist in a large city church. At the end of the four months he had paid all his bills, purchased new clothing and had about $200 in the bank. As a rule such a person is little known, and rarely seen, but this fellow is probably the most popular man in his class, active in a number of the college activities, and manager of one of the leading organizations on the campus.

There are innumerable ways in which a man can pick up money here if he cares to do so. Those who are good musicians form orchestras to play for college dances. Agents for all kinds of clothing, jewelry, stationery, etc., are always around. To give the reader a clear conception of the kinds of work done by college men I will list the occupations of some students with whom I am personally acquainted:

Waiting on table.
Tutoring.
Newspaper reporting.
Clipping college laws.
Selling hot-dogs and peanuts.
Working in barber shop.
Giving music lessons.
Working on college farm.
Drawing cartoons.
Pressing clothes.
Playing at the movies.
Operating college wireless.
Instructing minor courses.
Taking orders for magazines.
Working afternoons in stores.
Doing office work.

My college happens to be a co-educational institution, so it may be well to say something about the expenses of girls. The actual amount which girls must pay to the college for tuition, books, board and room does not exceed three hundred and fifty dollars. Other expenses would not compare with those of the boys, for, although they attend many social functions, the men of course must bear the "financial damage." There are several sororities, but as they do not occupy separate houses, the members have no extra expense other than dues. The chief additional cost to the women is clothing, and, as I am no authority on this subject, I will not attempt to guess how much is expended in this manner by the girls, but, of course, it varies greatly. Excluding clothing, however, a girl should be able to get along comfortably on four hundred and twenty-five dollars per year.

It is very hard for a girl to earn money while attending college here, as they must obtain employment upon the campus. As far as I am able to learn, the only means by which girls are earning money is by waiting on table, playing at the movies and instructing in some of the college courses.

In comparing the expenses of students here with those in other colleges, it will be well to remember that we are situated some distance from a city, for colleges located in cities must necessarily be more expensive. Also it is well to remember that these figures are much higher than if the statistics were compiled in 1914, and higher than they will be in the future owing to the increasing value of a dollar.

"The young fellow who takes the field for the George F. Cram Company has a perfect organization behind him; he feels, every moment that he leans not upon himself alone, but that he has another support more powerful than his own yet untutored strength. With experience will come confidence; a confidence, withal, that will be useful not in selling atlases only, but in dealing with every difficulty of mundane existence. However, in those first perilous days and weeks of selling, the new salesman can be assured that he has an organization of great power with him every moment of every day; whether he needs advice, help in the way of retraining, or anything else that the company can give him, it will be immediately forthcoming upon the first evidence of its need. I have worked altogether about 135 days selling atlases. During those days I earned $2,600.00, from which, to arrive at clear profits, should be deducted about $500.00 in expenses, leaving something over $2,000.00 absolutely

BIOLOGICAL BLDG. TO OPEN ON THURSDAY

Sir Charles Sherrington Will Speak

NOTABLE GUESTS

Ceremonies Commenced at 2.40 p.m.

All arrangements have been completed and everything is in readiness for the impressive ceremonies that are to be attendant upon the opening of McGill's new Biological Building which is to take place on Thursday, October the fifth. Numerous representatives from various European and American universities are to be present, prominent among whom is Sir Charles Sherrington, F.R.S., Wayneville, Professor of Physiology at Oxford University, and president of the Royal Society. Among the other special guests who are to be present at the inauguration of McGill's new structure are members of the professorial staffs of the universities of Harvard, Chicago, Groningen of Holland, Montreal, Pennsylvania, Johns Hopkins, Toronto, Western and Columbia.

The formal programme for the day is open at 10.30 a.m., when two addresses upon scientific subjects are to be delivered. Professor John M. Coulter will speak on the subject of "The Botanical Perspective," while a zoological subject will be broached by Dr. H. J. Hamburger of the University of Groningen, Holland, in an address on "A New Form of Correlation Between Organs."

At 2.40 o'clock in the afternoon the formal opening ceremony is to commence. Marshalled by a guard of honour of the McGill C.O.T.C. the procession will start for the new building from the robing room of the Royal Victoria College. At the head of the party will come a host of post graduates, lecturers and tutors of affiliated colleges, demonstrators, lecturers, assistant professors, associate professors, professors, and Fellows of the University. These will be followed by a notable group of special guests. Bringing up the rear will come the heads of departments, deans of the university, vice-principals, governors, the Principal and Vice-Chancellor Sir Arthur Currie, and the President and Chancellor, E. W. Beatty.

Arrived at the new building, Sir Charles Sherrington will deliver the formal inaugural address. As president of the Royal Society and holder of the Wayneville chair of Physiology at the University of Oxford it would appear that Professor Sherrington is the ideal man to preside at the opening ceremony of the new biological science building. It is expected that all interested in any branch of science and in its practical and cultural application will find the address of so distinguished a scientist of absorbing interest. Dr. Harvey Cushing, a distinguished surgeon and Professor of Surgery at Harvard University will also deliver an address.

At 4.30 o'clock the new building will be open for inspection, and tea will be served in the Botanical Laboratory.

Among the distinguished guests who are at McGill for the opening ceremony are Sir Charles Sherrington, Oxford University; Dr. Harvey Cushing, Harvard University; John M. Coulter, Chicago University; H. J. Hamburger, Groningen University; Dean Harwood, Universite de Montreal; Dr. Lafayette B. Mandel, Yale; Prof. W. Chittendon, Yale; Prof. M. O. Malte, Victoria Museum, Ottawa; Dr. Spencer Melvin, London, Ont.; Dr. S. Grondin, Quebec Medical Board; Prof. H. R. MacLeod, Toronto; Dr. Thomas McCrae, University of Pennsylvania; Dr. S. Flexner, Rockefeller Institute; Prof. E. C. Jeffrey, Harvard; Dr. W. G. MacCallum, Johns Hopkins; Prof. W. J. Giles, Columbia University; Dr. S. Bazett, University of Pennsylvania; Dr. H. T. Gussow, Dominion Botanist; Prof. A. G. Huntzman, Biological Board, Toronto University; Dean Alex. Primrose, Toronto University; Dr. John Stewart, Dalhousie; Dean Paul McKibben, Western University, London, Ont.

TOURNAMENT IN TENNIS AT R.V.C.

tournament matches, and records of games must be posted for the tennis managers. All girls using the courts are reminded that they must pay an entrance fee of one dollar at the office of the Physical Education Department.

It is hoped that everyone will help make the tournament a success by playing games promptly, and that a good brand of tennis may be developed. clear, to use in university residence, as a result of person's, selling in two summers. Besides this, I have earned something like $6000.00 doing special work for the company."

HAY WAS OUT PRACTISING YESTERDAY

Big Sprinter Covers Ground at Good Clip

MEET SATURDAY

Many Last Minute Entries Expected From First Year Men.

The track team continued to attract new material. Although the entry forms for the Freshman-Sophomore meet are still more or less empty it is rumored that both teams are waiting till the last minute to fill up the list. The Freshmen team weak but in all probability they will turn out at the last minute to hold up their class colors.

Hay was out on the track yesterday, through a stiff workout. Coach Van Wagner is being kept busy every moment of the time but manages to note the stride and ability of the newcomers. New men are asked to keep working out and get into shape. The meet on Saturday will in all probability uncover a lot of new material and the interfaculty meet will be the real test for the novice class.

The weight men are back from the holiday which they took on Monday and seem to be none the worse for the venture. Several new men turned out and there are a few more first year weight hurriers of well known ability who are still bashful at displaying their prowess.

In the longer events Wiggins and Ant-life are getting into form and Hamilton may once again venture into the distance fixtures. The pole vaulters are breaking sticks at a fast rate and may give the Toronto star a little to worry about on his arrival in Montreal. Practice will be held at the usual time today and new men can still be used.

PEP RALLY SCHEDULE FOR TO-NIGHT

speaking to the gathering, while Bert Rochester, President of the Union will be in the chair. Prominent men around the campus are all scheduled to put in an appearance and mix with the Freshmen, and it is also anticipated that numerous graduates will see their way clear to be present during the course of the evening.

Songs will be under the direction of Bert Tremaine, aided by his lieutenants—Teddes Thompson, last year's cheer leader; Nutting, Davies, and McCullough—who will do their part in raising the rafters with some good old McGill yells. Indications point to the noisiest, liveliest, and best evening on record. Those at the head of smoker have done their part in making ready for a supply of smokes and cider for some fifteen hundred odd undergraduates—it rests with the remainder of the student body to be out in force and compensate the committee men for their labour.

WINDOW TO BE UNVEILED IN MED. BLDG.

all mankind and a man most skillful in his craft. He came here as Lecturer in Surgery in 1912, and was also Surgeon to the Montreal General Hospital and there held in affection by all. In the Great War he served with No. 1 Canadian General Hospital and at the time of his death was in command of the 6th Field Ambulance. Born in Montreal in 1876. Killed in action at Thiepval, France, in 1916."

The unveiling of the window, at which relatives of the dead officers, governors of the university, deans of the faculties, representatives of the Universite de Montreal, the staff of the School of Medicine and presidents of Montreal hospitals will be present, will be an impressive and moving ceremony. An address will be delivered by Dr. F. G. Finley, dean of the Faculty of Medicine.

The dedication will be pronounced by the Rev. Canon Almond, while Rev. Dr. George Duncan will speak. Prayer will be conducted by the Dean of the Faculty of Divinity, Rev. Dr. E. J. Rexford.

Visitor (comforting Tommy, who has upset a bottle of ink on the new carpet)—"Never mind, my boy; no use to cry over spilled milk."

Tommy (indignantly)—"Any dunce would know that. If it's milk that's spilled all you have to do is to call the cat an' she'll lick it up clearer'n anything. But this ain't milk; an' mother'll do the lickin', is what ails me."

CLUBS & SOCIETIES

Notices of meetings of clubs and societies may be dropped into the box placed for that purpose on the door of the Daily office in the basement of the McGill Union. Notices should be in as early as possible.

DEAN OF DENTISTRY ON IMMIGRATION

Many Prominent Men at Rotary Club Meeting

"Canada needs many immigrants, but men of the right type. She needs men from England, some from Scotland, and just enough from Ireland to keep Canada on the move." This was the opinion voiced by Dr. A. D. Thornton, Dean of the Faculty of Dentistry, in his remarks as chairman of the Rotary Club luncheon held in the Windsor Hotel yesterday and attended by members of the British Parliamentary Party and Montreal Board of Trade, who recently returned from the Trans-Canada Tour.

Dr. Thornton besides making a strong appeal for encouragement of emigration from the British Isles, expressed the ideas of Montreal Rotarians concerning the slow action of the Canadian Government in responding to the recent cable of Lloyd George asking for Canadian support in the Near East crisis. "If Britain unsheathed the sword," he said "no government could sit in Canada what was not willing to support her with money and men."

When the speaker of the day, Sir Edwin Cornwall, Bart., Deputy speaker of the British House of Commons rose to speak, he referred to the loyalty of Canadians' as unchangeable, saying that England put implicit confidence in this country.

Sir Edwin considers Canada as a Country of great possibilities, richly endowed in natural resources and ruled by governments in the various provinces which are highly efficient. "There is no one part of the Dominion on which one can point and call "Canada". There are several "Canadas" each the same in spirit.

MANDOLIN CLUB WILL ENTERTAIN TO-NIGHT

An enthusiastic meeting of the members of the Mandolin Club took place yesterday afternoon at the Union. The invitation to play at to-night's smoker was enthusiastically received. Knowing how popular this club has been at past smokers and socials, it would not be amiss to state that it will form one of the chief attractions to-night.

R. S. Logan, of the executive, later gave a brief outline regarding the activities for the coming year. He explained that already over a score of new members have joined the club. Invitations to play at many college affairs were already coming in, and so one can easily surmise the popularity of the club. He emphasized the fact that all former members, and also any new men who are inclined in this respect should at once get in touch with the executive in order that the club may have its full quota of men present at its initial performance of to-night.

There is to be a rehearsal at 7.15 p.m. in the lounge room immediately preceding the smoker this evening. All aspirants for a position in the club would do well to attend. Arrangements are in the hands of R. S. Logan, Science '25, and "Bob" Stirling, Science '23.

Noise—"Yist'day," says Uncle Zeke, "Ah drapped foah cents on the floah, an' dey make a big racket. Ef dey had er bin foah dollar bills nobody would have heard 'em drop. People is jest like money; dem dat makes the most noise ain't allus of de mos' account."

SIR CHARLES SHERRINGTON WILL SPEAK

Founder's Day Occasion for Conferring Degrees

TO BE HELD AT R.V.C.

All Students Are Invited To Attend the Special Convocation

Friday, October 6th is Founder's Day at McGill at four o'clock in the afternoon, in the R.V.C. Hall, special convocation will be held for conferring honorary degrees, at which the Principal Sir Arthur Currie will give his opening address to the undergraduate body of the University. McGill is particularly favoured in having as distinguished guest at his convocation Sir Charles Sherrington, of Oxford who will address the students.

Founder's Day has been observed for decades past in honour of the birthday of the man to whom the University owes so much and whose name is held in such esteem—James McGill. Years ago it was the custom to have an address delivered by a well-known professor. In later years more importance has been attached to the day, and the custom has arisen of having the Principal address the students, and honorary degrees have been conferred. This year marks a new phase in the development of Founder's Day, for the Principal's address of welcome to the student body, which previously was given on the first or second day of the fall term, will be delivered on this occasion.

At least one honorary degree will be conferred on Friday. Since there is at McGill at present a visitor so distinguished as Sir Charles Sherrington, Sir Arthur Currie's brief talk will be particularly to the undergraduates, while Sir Charles will deliver the main address of the convocation.

This convocation is expressly an affair for the students to which every student is invited. It is to be hoped that the hall in the R.V.C. will be able to accommodate all the undergraduates desiring to hear Sir Charles, but owing to the comparatively small seating capacity only early arrivals will be assured of a satisfactory position in the hall.

HARRIERS WILL HOLD RUN THIS AFTERNOON

The first run on the mountain will be held by the Harrier Club today at four o'clock. Men are requested to report at Molson Hall at this time. The Harrier team will be in all probability be selected by the results of a series of runs rather than the usual one race this year and all men who are interested should start to get into shape. For the first few days no fast running will be permitted but a short easy run will be taken so that any new men can get broken into the game.

McGill has every chance of developing a winning team this year. The inter-collegiate run is to be held in Montreal on the Red and White course so that the runners will be accustomed to the race. As only two of last year's team are back, their is every opportunity for new endurance runners to turn out.

STRONG TEAM WILL GO TO TOURNAMENT

Crocker, McGill's Best Tennis Bid

CROWD AT COURTS

Last Year's Team Hard at Work

With Crocker and Wright turning out, with Ramsay and Douglas playing consistent tennis with Maurice and McDougall hard at work, and with many new men trying to catch a place on the team, McGill's prospects in intercollegiate tennis are very excellent and the chances are good that the local stars will again tuck away the championship.

During the past few days, a large number of students have had the opportunity of seeing Crocker in action and when he and Wright appeared on the college courts on Monday, a large gallery quickly gathered. During the past four months Crocker has gained an enviable reputation in tennis circles, having won several championships and having participated in many tournaments. He has an excellently controlled service and shows a rapid brand of foot work. His forehand driving is dangerous and he is also impressing local fans by picking up difficult returns with pretty backhand strokes. He also shows that he knows how to deal with an opponents lobs and can turn them into impossibles by deadly overhead smashes.

Wright is also becoming an outstanding figure on McGill courts again and it is easily seen that he wields a dangerous racket. His forehand and backhand are both strong and he plays a clever game at then et. With this well known pair back again, this year's aggregation will surely be a hard one to beat, for many of last year's stars have returned and all are playing consistent tennis.

Ramsay and Douglas have been hard at work and have staged many an interesting match during the past few days. Ramsay has lost none of his old time skill and plays as brainy a game as in the past. He is a clever man on the courts and many of his victories have been due to the fact that he has been able to outwit his opponent. Percy Douglas, another of last season's veterans, shows no letting down on his former style but if anything, has improved considerably. His backhand play is especially impressive and what is usually a weak point with many players, is certainly an asset with Douglas.

Maurice and McDougall have also been haunting the courts and several others have also showed that they have a good knowledge of the game.

MANY ENTRIES FOR TOURNAMENT

Many entries were received yesterday for the college tournament and it is expected that when the lists close this evening, the number will have increased considerably. The interest shown in this tournament is increasing with the passing of each day and there will undoubtedly be some very keen competition shown during the various matches. The draw will be made as soon as the entry lists close and the results will be made known at the earliest possible moment. It is hoped that there will be no delay in the playing off of this tournament and that the unfavorable weather of last year will not be experienced again.
